30 Days of
WRITING PROMPTS

What's your super power?

Eliminate a color.

Who do you miss?

What's something you like that no one else does?

What if our phones were slowly poisoning us?

What does your pet think about all day?

What's your favorite name? Write about someone who has it.

If you could buy a watch that told you what day you would die, would you wear it?

Write a story that begins, "I have to tell you something..."

Write a letter to yourself at 35 - what do you want to remember about now?

Choose one type of weather for the next year.

Write a "meet-cute."

Write in the voice of someone you see often but never speak to.

If you had to live on a television show, what would you choose?

Write about a character who can only communicate through music.

What's something you do not miss from being a little kid?

Write a recipe that's not for food.

Write about someone who wants to be heard.

Describe a time you were wrong.

What are you surprisingly good at?

If you had to add a class to the school curriculum, what would you choose?

Write about a time you faced your fears.

Write a story in which someone's morning routine goes wrong.

Explain how to do a task or job you know well.

Tell a story in slooow motion.

Write about someone who wants what they don't have and doesn't want what they do have.

Describe a place that doesn't exist anymore.

Write a love story in 50 words or less.

Write about two people who disagree but can't say so.

Write a story in questions.

What Can I Do With...
MY WRITING?

Set it to music.

Adapt it into a college entrance essay.

Give it to someone to explain how you feel.

Turn it into a comic book, graphic novel, or zine.

Publish it on a blog.

Make it into a short film.

Design artwork to go with it and publish it on social media.

Ask a teacher if you can turn it in for an assignment.

Add it to your journal.

Be proud of it.